Developing Alternative Solutions

Alternative solution = 1 or more ways of achieving a desired end or goal.

Example:

"I have been trying to eat breakfast in the mornings, but I don't feel like eating."

First, we must ask ourselves what the true problem is.

Is the problem that we physically feel ill and don't want to eat, did we eat too much late into the night and are still full from the previous snack or meal.

If we see that we are not hungry for breakfast because we ate a meal at 11:30 P.M. earlier that night, then we may not be hungry.

Now that we know that the problem is not with "BREAKFAST", we can then focus on the real problem = That is, being too full for breakfast from the previous snack or meal.

With the problem identified, we can now make Three (3) separate alternative solutions to see how we would want fix the problem.

1. I will wake up 30 minute earlier to create a sense of hunger.
2. I will eat smaller portion sizes at my last meal of the day.
3. I will use carbohydrate counting to control my food intake.

Once the list of 3 is created, pick the 1 choice that you think will work to solve the problem.

Practice the alternative solution daily for 1 month and then re-evaluate the previous problem.

Find a problem you are having, and create 3 different solutions for the problem, and then choose 1 to practice for the next month.

Example

#1: Problem= Not enough exercise

2. I will go check out Senior physical activity class at Numaga Senior Center.

3. I will go outside and walk 10 minutes at a time.

 5:00 PM * PLHA Conference Room

The museum has been working on 3 displays – Cultural Survival, Basket Weaving, and Indian Rodeos and Pow-Wows. Thanks goes out to those who have made contributions of photos and ideas to implement in the displays.

The museum received the new order of 2020 Calendars and are on sale for $9.00 each. The new Sequoia products arrived and are ready for sale. There are a variety of hand-made soaps, lotions, mists, scrubs, and lip balms. Come and see what natural fragrance you like the best. There are testers available. New books and CD's continue to be ordered.

Another Basket Weaving gathering was held on February 15-16th and was a big success! The gathering was held at the New Wadsworth Community Center and was a full house with local weavers and those traveling a distance to get here. The project was to work on splitting willow or to start on a burden basket. It is wonderful to see everyone in action and working hard on their projects.

As events are planned, we will keep the community informed. Thank you for your support and encouragement!

Our goal is to revive, enhance, and promote the traditional art of basketmaking handed down throughout the Great Basin Region. The Great Basin area stretches from the South area of Death Valley, California, up to the middle of Oregon, from the Sierra Mountains clear across to the Great Salt Lake. All tribes within the Great Basin region including the Washoe, Shoshone, Northern and Southern Paiute, Goshute, Ute, Bannock, Mohave, and Chemehuevi Tribes. A need to strengthen and retain our traditional art of baskets is a must, and we gather here today to call ourselves the Great Basin Native Basketweavers Association, with the intent and purpose of keeping the baskets alive for another thousand years.
